Adenauer, Russia Make Diplomatic Agreement

Woman Falls To Death In Hotel Lounge

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—A young woman plunged 24 stories today through a glass roof and into the midst of 150 persons gathered for lunch and cocktails in the Biltmore Hotel's fashionable Palm Court.

She died a short time later. She hurtled into a man seated in the lounge, injuring him seriously. Ten other patrons were hurt by chunks of flying glass.

The woman was listed by the hotel as Miss Mary H. Merkle, about 27, Cleveland, Ohio, she checked in with her mother, Mrs. E. B. Merkle, yesterday afternoon. Police said Miss Merkle leaped either from a bathroom window of her suite or a nearby fire escape as her mother sat in the bedroom writing letters. Mrs. Merkle became hysterical.

The body plummeted through a skylight, a layer of wire mesh and then through the three-story high roof of the cocktail lounge in the middle of the hotel's lobby floor. Donald Covert, 31, Brooklyn said he had just met his girl friend, Miss Grace Kairalla, 25, at nearby Grand Central Terminal. He said they dropped into the crowded lounge for a drink.

"Poom! it all came down—the whole world seemed to be coming down," said Covert. He suffered scalp and hand cuts; Miss Kairalla, lacerations of the left hand.

The body hit Daymond W. Copeland, 55, Afton, N. Y., who was seated with his wife near the lounge's entrance.

Copeland suffered three broken ribs and was reported in serious shock. Mrs. Copeland also was treated for shock.

Pilot Lands On Pike's Peak

COLORADO SPRINGS, Sept. 13 (AP)—A Wichita, Kan., pilot today became the first man to land a helicopter on the 14,110-foot summit of Pikes Peak.

Jack Zimmerman landed a helicopter on the rocky summit at 7 a.m., just 28 minutes after taking off from Peterson Field which is 17.8 miles away from the mountain by air.

Zimmerman circled once over the peak at about 1,000 feet and then settled the helicopter down vertically.

He was piloting the CH1 helicopter in an altitude evaluation flight for Cessna Aircraft Co. and the Army.

First Snow Fall

QUEBEC, Sept. 13 (AP)—The first snow fall of the season in Quebec region was reported today in Laurende Park, some 40 miles north of here. Meteorists said the three-hour fall began at 7 a.m. and left a covering of snow over a large area.

Neighbors Helping Family Continue Weekly Paper

ROCKWALL, Tex., Sept. 13 (AP)—When death and illness come, folks generally slow down enough to be neighborly. And the neighbors of a father-son team have pitched in to keep their weekly newspaper, the Rockwall Texas Success, going successfully.

Two weeks ago, publisher P. J. Bounds died. Last Wednesday, only two days before press time, his son and partner, P. J. Bounds Jr., collapsed as he was setting type for his father's obituary.

Chancellor Gets Promise Of Early Release Of POWs

MOSCOW, Sept. 13 (AP)—In a surprise finish to hard bargaining, West Germany agreed tonight to set up diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union. The pact was made in return for a Soviet promise of early release of Germans still held prisoner in Russia.

The accord was announced in a communique signed by West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

The communique was issued after the close of four days of talks between Adenauer and Soviet leaders.

The decision ends the estrangement between Bonn and Moscow that has existed since the end of World War II.

The communique was agreed upon after a 7½-hour final meeting of the German and Soviet delegations.

This was the fourth full session of the negotiations conducted in Moscow on the invitation of the Russian government.

The communique was read to separate German and Soviet news conferences.

The German press officer, Bonn's U. N. Ambassador Felix von Eckardt, told correspondents that in addition to the communique there was an exchange of letters between Adenauer and Bulganin.

In one of his letters, Adenauer made what the Germans called "judicial reservations" on two major issues. These were:

1. That the final fixing of Germany's frontiers must, in the opinion of the German Federal Republic, be done only in a final peace treaty.

2. That the German Federal Republic claims to speak for all Germany.

However, Eckardt said that the release of prisoners would affect "hundreds of thousands of families in Germany."

The Soviets, on the other hand, have claimed they hold no more prisoners except for 9,626 "war criminals" who are serving sentences.

The communique said the West German delegation's agreement to establish diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union was dependent only upon ratification by the Bonn Cabinet and Parliament.

But Eckardt said Adenauer had promised he would recommend such ratification.

The President of Russia's Supreme Soviet also must approve the agreement before it can be put into effect.

Kennan Doubts Red Industry Ahead Of West

MILAN, Italy, Sept. 13 (AP)—George F. Kennan, former U. S. ambassador to Moscow, paid tribute today to the ability of the Russian people but expressed doubt that their industrial progress has outstripped the West.

The former envoy addressed an international conference for cultural freedom which has brought together here some of the world's outstanding professors.

Kennan said he viewed "with deepest skepticism" the claim that Soviet industrial progress "has outstripped that of Western countries, and my own country in particular."

Speaking from the experience of "many years of residence in the Soviet Union and occupation with Russian affairs," he said he had "little confidence in any Soviet statistics of economic growth based on the alleged 'value' of output in terms of this or that system of artificial prices."

Speed of growth in heavy industry has been the principal target of Soviet economic policy, but one should take into account the cost paid for the Soviet achievements, Kennan added.

"I would question in particular," he said, "whether the Soviet leaders themselves look back today with unqualified satisfaction on the cost and the results of the experiment they have conducted."

For that reason, Kennan said, he would warn "our friends from the underdeveloped areas . . . to take care that they do not turn to Moscow for a type of industrial development which Russia herself has already outgrown and for which she has become much the wiser."

Kennan said the Communist and American methods of economic development "are not mutually exclusive opposites, but merely two different modes of a process through which all peoples who embrace modern technology are destined to go."

"I think," he added, "we would all do well not to contemplate the mutual frustration in ideas and technology which the world so needs as a matter of rigid alternatives, but to recognize the genuine complexity of this world and the inexorable community of obligations and necessities that bind us all."

Elephant Holds Out In Wooded Retreat

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 13 (AP)—The saga of Vickie, the wandering 6-year-old female elephant, appeared today to have become a test of determination.

Vickie, who wandered from an amusement park into a dense wooded area Sunday, is determined not to come home; her handlers are just as determined to flush her from her retreat.

Her handlers said they will give her until the end of the week to come home — they'll go in and get her, with guns.

Arrives In Warsaw

LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Sen Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) arrived in Warsaw from Moscow today.

Warsaw radio said he is visiting the Polish capital at the invitation of the Polish group of the Inter-Parliamentary Union.

Soviet Seems Ready To Pay For Changes

May Have Bearing On West's Program For Big 4 Meeting

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The outcome of German-Soviet negotiations in Moscow today indicated Russian leaders are willing to pay a price for the changes they are seeking to bring about in international relations.

That may be a significant fact for the West in the preparation of plans for the Big Four foreign ministers' meeting opening in Geneva, Oct. 27.

The deal which Chancellor Konrad Adenauer made with Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin was about what had been expected here — where Adenauer's plans were fully known in advance—provided the Russians were willing to meet the German terms.

Wanted Relations

The Moscow government wanted to establish diplomatic relations with the West German government at Bonn. It was for that reason that the Russians invited Adenauer to visit Moscow. Apparently the move on their part is an element in their campaign to "normalize" relations with the rest of the world.

Adenauer's price for agreeing to the Russian approach was a Soviet agreement to release German prisoners held from World War II. After hard bargaining the Soviets agreed.

Adenauer's mission was widely advertised in advance as fitting in with the Western strategy of testing Moscow's intentions in connection with its protestations of friendship and good will toward the West.

Diplomats said the significance of the Soviet deal with Adenauer could easily be overemphasized. While it was vitally important for Adenauer to get a commitment on the prisoners, because of the political importance of the issue in Germany, the Russians could make the commitment and be able to carry it out without yielding any position or possession of great value to themselves.

Merits Close Study

Nevertheless authorities said this was one of the aspects of the Moscow talks which would merit close study in Western capitals. Other aspects will become clear when the full details of the conversations are known.

It appeared quite clear that Adenauer did not yield in any degree on his insistence that Germany must be unified under conditions which will give it freedom of alliance with the West. If the Soviets hoped to prejudice his stand on that issue they apparently got nowhere.

Lack Of Wind Help To Fighters

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Sept. 13 (AP)—Lack of wind today aided 1,300 men trying to subdue the huge fire north of here which has blackened 74,500 acres of brush and timber and caused an estimated $½ million dollars damage.

There was also good weather news in northern California as light rains began falling near Eureka. Fires in the north have brought the state damage to more than 10 million dollars in the past week.

Officials of the Los Padres National Forest, where most of the Santa Barbara County damage has occurred, said flames were contained. However, 12 miles of the 72-mile perimeter are uncontrolled.

In northern California several fires were giving trouble. Officials estimated that the Haystack fire in Klamath National Forest has caused $2,100,000 damage. Two thousand men still were battling this 87,000-acre blaze.

Several other fires flickered in the far northern part of the state. In central California, the 18,000-acre fire which threatened the General Grant grove of giant redwoods has been surrounded, with 960 men still fighting the flames.

Apology Sought For Congressman

MOSCOW, Sept. 13 (AP)—The U. S. Embassy today renewed its request for a Soviet government apology in the case of a U. S. congressman who was held at pistol point by a Russian army officer for more than an hour here last month.

The incident was reported by Rep. Joseph Holt (R-Calif.) Aug. 31. The embassy sent a protest to the Kremlin on Sept. 7 and asked an apology.

Red Civilians Detained

LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin said tonight that more than 100,000 Soviet citizens are being detained in Western Germany. The statement was reported by Moscow radio.

Hilda Strikes Tip Of Eastern Cuba

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 13 (AP)—Hurricane Hilda struck the sparsely-populated eastern tip of Cuba late today and was expected to roll forward into a mountainous area that may remove some of its punch.

Punta Maisi, a small town on the extreme eastern tip of the big Caribbean island, reported winds of 50 to 60 m.p.h. The center of the storm, its 90 mile winds pulled tightly around the eye, was located a short distance offshore.

"The present course lessens the threat to Florida and the mainland," storm forecaster Gilbert Clark said. "We think now that Hilda will move across eastern Cuba and go out into the Caribbean Sea."

"The mountains are expected to weaken the winds, since it's a small storm," he said. But he added it may regain force if it gets over open water again.

The storm was moving west to west southwest at about 8 m.p.h. Storm forecasters predicted a path to the west at 7 to 12 miles an hour for the next 12 hours.

At 5 p.m., it was centered near latitude 20.0 north, longitude 74.2 west. Gales extend 150 miles in a northern direction and 50 miles to the south.

The Miami Weather Bureau, in its 5 p.m. advisory, said: "Caution is advised in eastern Cuba for gale to hurricane force winds and high tides tonight."

Small craft in the southern Bahamas and around eastern Cuba were cautioned.

The storm's center is some 550 miles southeast of Miami, the nearest mainland point, and its present path was keeping it about that distance.

Santiago, Cuba, was expected to be near the storm path but was on the storm's weaker side and is protected by mountains. Weathermen expected fairly light winds there.

The big, busy naval base at Key West, Fla., ordered all personnel to report to ships and the vessels made ready to put to sea on two hours' notice to ride out the storm.

Four blimps at the Boca Chica base near Key West were readied for evacuation to Glynn, Ga., and 28 jet fighters of the All-Weather Training Squadron were ordered to Dobbins Air Force Base, Marietta, Ga., if Hilda continues her present course.

Reports differed as to whether the television performer or another pilot was at the controls of the Godfrey airplane. A CAA official said it was his impression Godfrey was in the pilot's or co-pilot's seat. In New York, Godfrey's agent said the performer was not in Chicago at the time.

Owner of a plushly outfitted Douglas DC3, Godfrey has gotten into trouble with the CAA before for violating rules.

On Jan. 7, 1954, Godfrey "buzzed" the airport control tower at Teterboro, N. J. The CAA took away Godfrey's pilot's license for six months because of the incident.

Wayne Jordan, supervising agent of the CAA in Chicago, said the pilot and co-pilot of the Ozark plane filed a written protest about the incident in the air lines' home office at St. Louis.

Union Heads Approve Plan Of Senator

Citizens Committee Recommended To Halt Dock Walkout

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—The International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA) tonight seized on a face-saving means of ending their spreading week-old waterfront strike. Union leaders were expected to recommend it to their rank and file tomorrow.

The proposal by a New Jersey state senator calls for an end to the million-dollar-a-day dock tieup. Then a citizens' committee would probe the bistrate waterfront policing commission which is the target of the ILA strike.

Struck Waterfront

The ILA struck the waterfront in a months-long battle to by-pass and kill off the New York-New Jersey Waterfront Commission. The union has been trying in vain to get the two states to go over the commission's head in handling dock grievances.

New Jersey Democratic Sen. James F. Murray Jr.'s back-door approach to the knotty problem caught the fancy of ILA leaders after a day in which they tried and failed to knock out all East and Gulf Coast shipping. Their effort left the seaboard reeling, however.

More than 150 ships were caught in the tieup as the ILA extended the New York waterfront strike to ports from Canada to Mexico.

However, there were important pockets of revolt along the coasts. Thousands of longshoremen in Halifax, Baltimore and New Orleans defied the ILA general strike mandate. Thousands more wavered in Montreal, Norfolk and Houston.

Due In Court Today

On top of that, the ILA is due in court tomorrow to fight against a possible contempt citation for ignoring back-to-work orders by New York judges.

That the ILA was groping for some way out of the strike became apparent Sunday. The stoppage was called off with the announcement that a New York legislative committee would by-pass the waterfront commission and hear the ILA grievances.

Within five hours, however, the reported intervention was repudiated by New York officials and the strike was reinstated.

Sen. Murray's plan would get around the reluctance of either New York or New Jersey to intervene against the commission. Murray's district includes struck piers in Jersey City, N. J.

It calls for a five-man citizens' fact-finding committee to hear ILA grievances, afford public hearings to the union, the longshoremen, the shippers and the Waterfront Commission, and finally to make recommendations to the Legislatures in the two states.

Binding To No One

The recommendations would be binding on no one. Nor would there be any compulsion on state governments, or even the Waterfront Commission itself, to take part in the inquiry. Their approval would not even be needed to hold the hearings.

Meanwhile, the ILA called on East and Gulf Coast strikers to stay off their jobs until a mass meeting here tomorrow acts on the Murray proposal.

Piers lay idle from Portland, Me., to Miami and Tampa, Fla. But only about half of the ILA's estimated 100,000 longshoremen and affiliates in 35 major East and Gulf Coast ports were out.

Five Crewmen Killed

RIPON, England, Sept. 13 (AP)—A Royal Air Force transport plane crashed on farmland near here today. All five crewmen were killed. The Air Ministry in London said the plane was on a routine training flight.

Worst Smog In History Hits Los Angeles Area

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13 (AP)—The worst smog attack on record here—gray, eye-stinging stuff that made tears run and shrouded the city—sent the ozone reading to an all-time high of 90 part per million parts of air today.

The county Air Pollution Control district called a "first alert"—the seventh since it was empowered last June to do so—by which outdoor burning is banned. Citizens are asked to limit unnecessary driving.

The APC stationed inspectors at all oil refineries. Smith Griswold, Air Pollution Control officer, said the ozone density reaches 1 part per million he will ask the refineries to shut down.

He called into session an emergency action committee of physicians and others to give advice in case the ozone reaches that level.

Ozone, an irritating form of oxygen, is measured continually as a guide in calling alerts.

Reds Say Control Law Is Outmoded

File Brief In Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Communist party, asking the Supreme Court to strike down the 1950 subversive activities control law, argued today it has been outmoded by the Geneva summit meeting.

A brief filed with the court also cited speeches by Chief Justice Warren and Justice Douglas, and suggested the law was at variance with the philosophy the jurists had expressed.

The 270-page brief was filed preliminary to oral arguments at the court's fall term on the party's challenge of a government order for it to register under the 1950 act. The brief said the 1950 law was enacted when the Western world believed the Korean struggle was the opening campaign of a third world war. "This was the political estimate that underlay its enactment," the brief said.

Now, however, it added, this "justification for the onslaught on the Constitution" has proved unfounded.

The brief cited the truce negotiated in Korea and said international tensions have relaxed. It cited President Eisenhower's comment that on the basis of his experiences at Geneva he felt Soviet leaders were as sincere as he in their desire for peace.

"This perspective of peaceful co-existence is incompatible with the premise of the act, spelled out in Section Two," the brief said.

Section Two says a world Communist movement exists which would establish a totalitarian dictatorship by use of treachery, sabotage, terrorism and any other means deemed necessary. The section says the Communist organization in this country presents "a clear and present danger to the security of the United States."

The brief said the act infringed fundamental liberties guaranteed by the Constitution and quoted this excerpt from an address by Chief Justice Warren in Chicago Aug. 19, 1954:

"We are living in a world of ideas and are going through a war of ideas. Everywhere there is a contest for the hearts and minds of men.

"Every political concept is under scrutiny. Our American system like all others is on trial both at home and abroad. The way it works; the manner in which it solves the problems of our day; the extent to which we maintain the spirit of our Constitution with its Bill of Rights, will in the long run do more to make it both secure and the object of adulation than the number of hydrogen bombs we stockpile."

Seven Indicted For FHA Claims

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Seven men were indicted today on charges of filing false statements during 1953 and 1954 to obtain Federal Housing Administration home improvement loans.

The loans, for homeowners in Washington, Virginia and Maryland, were insured by FHA and, according to the indictments, total more than $25,000.

The men were identified as: Dan Melvin, 35, formerly of University Gardens, Md., but now of New York, who headed a home improvement concern in Baltimore.

Richard M. Bias, 32, of Arlington, Va., a contracting company organizer.

Larry L. Woodward, 54, of Bethesda, Md., a salesman for Bias.

David L. Landsman, 29, of Baltimore, an engineer.

Morton Klasmier, 27, proprietor of a Baltimore heating concern.

William S. Seligman, 30, of Baltimore, a salesman for Klasmier.

Francis H. Tippet, 27, of Baltimore, a salesman for Klasmier.

The cases were presented to the grand jury by the Justice Department. The true bills were returned by a grand jury before District Court Judge Matthew F. McGuire.

The maximum penalty for filing a false statement is imprisonment from eight months to two years and a $5,000 fine.

FBI To Discuss Bank Robbery Wave

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13 (AP)—Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation will meet here today to discuss the largest wave of bank robberies in 20 years.

Tunisia To Get First Premier Under Own Rule

TUNIS, Sept. 13 (AP)—Tunisia made a new advance toward semi-independent status today. The Bey of Tunis prepared to name the protectorate's first premier under the recently ratified home rule accord with France.

Observers speculated the sovereign would ask Tahar Ben Ammar, who headed the Cabinet which negotiated the French-Tunisian agreements, to form Tunisia's initial "internal autonomy" regime. Another possible selection is Mongi Slim, of the Nationalist Neodestour (new freedom) party, who helped draft the pact.

Earlier, Ben Ammar formally resigned in a brief ceremony in the governmental Palace. The Bey asked him to handle current affairs pending a decision on the premiership.

At the same time, France announced the appointment of Roger Seydoux, a career diplomat, as the first French high commissioner to Tunisia. Until today Seydoux has been acting resident general, a post abolished by the accords. Seydoux was deputy resident general for the past year under Gen. Pierre Boyer de Latour du Moulin, now transferred to Morocco.

Seydoux's last act as resident general was to lift all restrictions on the return of Tunisian exiles and refugees from neighboring Libya and Middle Eastern states.

The appointment of Seydoux was hailed in both French and Tunisian circles as a good omen for future cooperation between France and the protectorate. Tunisian Nationalists particularly liked Seydoux's role in drafting the self-rule agreements.

The accords, which French officials regard as a prototype for a similar agreement with Morocco, will put local administration progressively into Tunisian hands, while retaining military and diplomatic matters under French control.

Senate Committee To Check Tuition

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) said today the Senate Investigations subcommittee will explore reports that the government has paid the tuition of hundreds of Korean War veterans enrolled in schools run by Communists.

Manville's Ninth Wife Divorces Rich Playboy

RENO, Nev., Sept. 13 (AP)—The ninth wife of millionaire Tommy Manville, 61-year-old playboy, was divorced today.

Mrs. Manville, who went on the witness stand, pleaded extreme mental cruelty, and got a $260,000 settlement.

"It's the largest Tommy has given," said Anita Frances Roddy, Edna Manville, willowly 31-year-old dancer who married the ashes to her in 1952.

They separated 12 days later. Garbed in black, and wearing a spray of nine purple orchids "from Tommy," Mrs. Manville broke down briefly on the witness stand as she described her brief life with the white-haired Manville.

"We had many quarrels . . . it was my husband's drinking . . . he used vile language . . . and continually talked of other women and his previous wives," she told District Judge Gordon Rice.

Expect Release Of Big 4 Papers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles is expected to give the word any day on what still-secret parts of the Big Four summit conference record are to be made public.

Most of the Geneva papers already have been released, in substance if not in full. But there are some documents which have not yet been lifted out of the secrecy files.

Dinner conversations and party talk, such as between President Eisenhower and Soviet Marshal Zhukov at Geneva, are not part of the record. Only communiques and official statements are involved.

Dulles was reported to have taken galley proofs of the American record to his Duck Island vacation retreat in Lake Ontario. He is due back Friday night.

Officials look for no repetition of the controversy which accompanied last May's "leak" of the Yalta papers. Dulles is reported anxious to see the record of the July meeting at Geneva made public with a minimum of splash.

Lebanon Premier Resigns His Post

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Sept. 13 (AP)—Premier Sami Solh resigned today following heated parliamentary attacks on his government's tax program. His 10-man Cabinet has held office for two months.

A government announcement said President Camille Chamoun asked the Cabinet to remain in office temporarily as a caretaker government. The President opened consultations with political leaders on the formation of a new administration.

More Arrests Promised In Heiress Death

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13 (AP)—Dist. Atty. Samuel Dash said today that investigation of the abortion killing of Mrs. Doris Jean Silver Ostericher was "not completed" even though three persons, including the dead girl's mother, already have been arrested.

"There might be more arrests," Dash hinted and he pressed his probe of the Aug. 24 death of the 22-year-old food chain heiress, exactly two months after her storybook romance with a Miami Beach, Fla., motorcycle policeman, Earl Ostericher.

Dash's announcement in his city hall office paralleled developments of yesterday, and an almost similar "more arrests" statement that ended with the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schwartz two hours before midnight in the backyard of a relative's home.

The Schwartzes — he's a bartender, she's a beautician — were accused of performing the abortion in their now-unoccupied North Philadelphia apartment that resulted, a short time later, in the death of the beautiful redhead by suffocation.

The couple, who at the Sept. 2 inquest had denied any knowledge of the circumstances surrounding the girl's death, also were accused of perjury, of conspiring with Mrs. Ostericher's grief-stricken mother, Mrs. Gertrude Silver, to perform the unsuccessful abortion, and of being accessories before the fact of the illegal operation.

Dash said that two of the charges against the Schwartzes are virtually equivalent — performing an abortion and being an accessory. In view of that, he said, if they are convicted on three of the four counts they would face a possible maximum prison term of 19 years.

The Schwartzes go before a magistrate Thursday to answer the charges. Presently they are free in $5,000 bail each, posted early today by "a friend," their attorney said.

The arrest of the Schwartzes last night was not without its dramatics — and, even, suspense.

Six homicide detectives surrounded the home of Mrs. Schwartz's mother in West Philadelphia. While four banged on the front door, two others slipped to the rear.

It was quite dark, and the two detectives heard faint footsteps. They saw two figures coming down the steps leading from the kitchen into the backyard. They walked over just as Mrs. Rosalie Schwartz got to the bottom of the steps, her husband just behind her.

Detective Nathan Smith said Mrs. Schwartz threw up her hands and said "Oh, we were just putting out the garbage."

"What's in your handbag?" Smith said he asked in reply. He told newsmen she had her handbag and was wearing a sweater. Schwartz had a sports coat slung over his arm.

There was no garbage, and the Schwartz car was parked about a block away, he said.

Dock Walkout Hits Broadway Stage Production

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—The big dock strike hit the Broadway stage today.

Two tons of scenery and costumes for the Oct. 3 opening of "Tiger at the Gates" went unloaded from the hold of the French liner Flandre when she arrived. The play is being brought here from London.

Unless the strike ends while the Flandre is in port, the scenery and costumes will be returned to England and then flown here in an attempt to make the play's opening curtain.

Rita Said Not Seeking Divorce

RENO, Nev., Sept. 13 (AP)—Rita Hayworth's attorney said today the glamorous actress has no intention of divorcing crooner Dick Haymes. He pictured Haymes as striving desperately to woo his wife back.

Miss Hayworth — who separated recently from Haymes — arrived in New York today en route to France. There she will turn her daughter, Yasmine, 5, over to ex-husband Aly Khan for a six-week visit.

Rita's lawyer, Bartley Crum, told newsmen in Reno that "no divorce is contemplated . . . She doesn't even have it on her mind."

Crum parried further questions about the couple's matrimonial problems, but added that Haymes has called Rita daily since the separation and "sends her flowers constantly."

Crum said Miss Hayworth will travel by ship to France, but won't turn Yasmine over to her father until the French courts recognize Rita's 1953 Nevada divorce from the Moslem prince.

"Rita always has wanted Yasmine to be with Aly," Crum said, but added that she wants the right to "call the French cops if something goes wrong" with the child's visit.

Last January the Nevada courts approved an elaborate procedure under which Aly must post $100,000 bond and that his father — the Aga Khan — give written assurances that the child would be returned to Rita after the visit.

French Order Morocco Sultan Off His Throne

PARIS, Sept. 13 (AP)—A French cabinet "hatchet committee" today instructed the resident-general of Morocco to ease Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa off his throne within three days to clear the scene for a sweeping reform program in the protectorate.

The Sultan — for the moment — is standing firm on his statement issued last night that he will remain the sovereign "until God decides otherwise." His followers and prominent French colonists are encouraging him to defy Premier Edgar Faure's decisions.

Faure faced new troubles on the French political front when Defense Minister Gen. Pierre Koenig announced he opposed some parts of the government policy as adopted in a five-hour cabinet meeting late yesterday. The attitude of French settlers in Morocco was believed to have influenced Koenig's position. There were also reports of a new split between Faure and Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay on this issue.

Leaders of Koenig's party, followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, met late today to survey the situation. A decision to pull Koenig out of the coalition cabinet would make Faure's own position precarious after Parliament reconvenes Oct. 4. This apparently was why the cabinet pressed Resident-General Pierre Boyer de Latour du Moulin for speedy action on the sultanate problem.

Boyer de Latour was told to deliver a letter to Moulay Arafa from Rene Coty, president of France, assuring the Sultan of an honorable exit and a generous financial settlement, plus a pledge that France does not intend to restore to power his predecessor, pro-nationalist former Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef.

The French deposed Ben Youssef two years ago and exiled him to Madagascar. Part of the French plan now is to bring him to France in return for his promise to abstain from political activity to regain the throne.

To Be Broadcast

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—A speech by Secretary of State Dulles before the American Legion national convention in Miami, Fla., Oct. 10, will be broadcast by ABC radio, the network said today.

Over Half Of Corn Crop In State Has Matured

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 13 (AP)—More than half of the corn crop on Maryland's Eastern Shore was matured by the end of last week, but mechanical pickers made slow progress because of blown-down stalks in some areas.

In reporting this today, three agencies making their weekly weather-crop summary said the corn seemed to mature rapidly during the week ended last Saturday.

The report, issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and Weather Bureau and the University of Maryland farm extension service, soybeans also were well podded and maturing rapidly.

A few fields were yellowing, but it would be another two weeks before combining could begin in even the earliest fields, the reporters said.

These other crop developments were reported:

Tobacco: Reports indicated flea beetles were still active but about three-fourths of the crops had been harvested and it was estimated the total crop would reach 33,150,000 pounds, down 10,200,000 from the Aug. 1 estimate.

Hay and pasture: Pastures continued to make excellent growth. Lescpedeza hay was ready for cutting.

Fruit crops: Peach harvest was over except for a few late trees. Apples were being harvested in some early orchards. Temperatures during the past week were conducive to proper coloring.

FREDERICK, Sept. 13 (AP)—Hood College announced today 200 new students, one of its biggest freshman classes since pre-World War II days, have been enrolled the academic year starting Sept. 21.

The new class brings the 63-year-old college up to an enrollment of 465, including recipients of the first 40 Maryland senatorial scholarships for future teachers.

Top Official Of ILA Resigns, Protests Strike

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13 (AP)—A top official of the International Longshoremen's Assn. resigned today to emphasize the refusal of local ILA officers to obey a general strike order.

August Idzik, international vice president of the big independent longshoremen's union, renounced his office after leading a rebellion against the order.

His action came shortly after officers of six ILA locals met in Baltimore and voted unanimously not to call out 7,400 stevedores.

Idzik and other union officials from Baltimore then went before a regional officer of the National Labor Relations Board to answer unfair labor charges brought earlier by the Steamship Trade Assn., representing shippers in their home port.

John A. Penello, director of the regional NLRB office, said his findings would determine whether he would seek a federal court injunction against the Baltimore stevedores to make certain they handle all cargo.

Two ships already had arrived after being diverted from New York piers which were tied up by a dispute between ILA officials there and the Waterfront Commission of New York Harbor. At least four more were reported en route to Baltimore.

ILA President William V. Bradley's message asking all Atlantic Coast ports to join New York dockers in a general tieup was rejected by the vote of the six local union officers.

Baltimore cargo unloadings were just about normal today, with even the two diverted ships being handled, but whether all diverted cargoes would continue to be handled was not certain.

Killed In Crash

WALDORF, Md., Sept. 13 (AP)—A 54-year-old Washington woman was killed last night in a head-on automobile collision on U.S. 301 about four miles south of here.

Pronounced dead at La Plata Hospital, she was identified as Miss Mary Margaret Smith.

The first bathtub in the United States was installed by Adam Thompson in Cincinnati in 1842.

Union Leader To Confer With Pittsburgh CIO

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13 (AP)—The union leader for the only Westinghouse Electric Corp. plant in the country not on strike will fly to Pittsburgh tomorrow for talks with heads of the CIO Electrical Workers Union.

Eugene Watts, president of IUE Local 130, will return in time to report to the general membership at a meeting tomorrow night.

The trip was decided on by the local's executive board after it was unable to reach a decision on the part to be taken by the local in the nationwide strike called by the international union.

The workers at the Baltimore plant formerly were members of the Independent Electrical Workers union and only recently became affiliated with the IUE. Local 130 represents 750 employees of the Baltimore plant.

They reported for work today.

Bechtold Denies Wrong Entries

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13 (AP)—A 65-year-old former bookkeeper for the Citizens National Bank of Havre de Grace testified today he did nothing wrong in posting an entry the government claims was $8,500 short of the true balance.

William C. Bechtold, an employee of the bank for 44 years, said he merely entered day to day balances as they existed in the accounts.

Bechtold is being tried in Federal Court on a charge that he made a false entry in the books of the bank on Aug. 20, 1954. Both the government and defense rested their cases late today.

Cucumber-Picking Machine Invented

BRIDGEHAMPTON, N. Y., Sept. 13 (AP)—An inventive farmer has come up with a new machine to pick a peck of prospective pickles.

Farmer Henry Schwenck invented his cucumber-picking machine to save wear and tear on the vines and also on the pickers.

It is a long wheeled platform which a tractor pulls down the rows of cucumbers. Pickers lie flat on mattresses on the platform and pick with both hands, throwing the cucumbers into a long box across the front. There is a canopy to keep off the sun.

New 'Marilyn Monroe' Airplane Design Increases Flight Speeds

By VERN HAUGLAND
AP Aviation Reporter
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics now has announced a new concept in aircraft design which produces startling increases in supersonic airplane speeds without an increase in power. NACA labeled the design principle "area rule," and said it produces the airplane shape known variously as coke bottle, wasp waist and "Marilyn Monroe." Aviation Week magazine described the development as "one of the most significant military scientific breakthroughs since the atomic bomb." NACA, which is the federal government's principal agency for aeronautical research, called it "a powerful, simple and useful device for designing new aircraft with dramatically improved performance."

Official announcement of the new design concept followed publication last Wednesday of an article in Aero Digest describing its importance.

Fred Hamlin, publisher of Aero Digest, said he finally broke the story after holding it more than a year when he learned that NACA, without advising him, was planning to release it Sept. 19 in connection with an article on that date in Aviation Week, a rival publication.

NACA, in saluting the aviation press for withholding the story for more than a year and a half, made no mention of the Aero Digest publication.

The invention of Richard T. Whitcomb, 34-year-old scientist at NACA's Langley Aeronautical Laboratory in Hampton, Va., area rule already has been applied to the following supersonic airplanes:

1. The Navy's Grumman F11F Tiger, originally designated the F9F9, now in production at Bethpage, Long Island, N. Y.

2. The Air Force Convair F102A, under production at San Diego.

It also is being used on the Navy's Chance-Vought F8U carrier-based interceptor soon to go into production at Dallas, Tex.

Simply by pinching in the airplane fuselage or body where the wings are attached, the speed of the aircraft through and beyond the speed of sound has been increased by 25 per cent or more.

"In simplest terms, the area rule is a rational way of reducing very greatly the sharp drag rise (increase in air resistance) which occurs at transonic speeds," NACA said in a news release.

Conventionally designed airplanes at transonic speeds—that is, when they are crossing the speed of sound, in the ranges between 600 and 800 miles an hour—encounter severe turbulence and air flow resistance which is not found at subsonic and supersonic speeds.

Whitcomb, starting work in 1951 in the first of NACA's transonic wind tunnels, ventured onto the right discovery track by considering the drag-increase characteristics of wings, bodies, tail surfaces and other plane parts as a whole instead of separately.

Whitcomb visualized a theoretical "body of revolution"—an ideally streamlined shape like that of a bomb without fins — and considered its cross-sectional area.

He compared the shock wave pattern against this ideal shape, in wind tunnel speeds, with that against an airplane model, and calculated the cross-section area of the model, with the area of its wings added to that of the body.

Pinching away some of the body to compensate for the added area of the wings eliminated the "hump" that produced extra shock waves, and made for smoother passage through the air. Conversely, lift of the waist of the plane model the disturbance

Burglars Make News Oddities In Past Week

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—Burglars sledgehammered their way into a Chicago office building last week and took about $1,000 and six copies of a book entitled "How to be a Locksmith."

Maybe they would consider sending a copy to the Asbury, N.J., burglar who tried to break open a finance company's safe. He chiseled and chiseled and finally gave up. Next morning company employees found beside the safe this note, written in ink: "Hard safe to crack."

Another thief, also with a yen for writing notes, robbed a bank vault in Hamamatsu, Japan. Near the gate he left 200,000 yen and this note: "I took 1,000,000 yen from the vault but felt this was too much for me and return here with 200,000 yen." A million yen is $2,778 in American money.

A burglar carted off a 21-inch television set from a Dallas home, but in time he'll probably leap to the conclusion he's been stung. As caused by the tapering away of the broad delta wing could be offset by bulging out the fuselage somewhat, to provide a total surface area smoothly and evenly streamlined to the rear.

Don't let PAINS of headache, neuralgia or aching muscles get you down! The combination of fast acting ingredients in STANBACK TABLETS brings quick comforting relief. Keep STANBACK on hand, and when pain strikes . . . . .

the owner placidly explained to police: "A big stinging scorpion had crawled up between the picture tube and the front glass. He just stayed there. I never bothered him and he never bothered me."

A woman restaurant owner in Miami, Fla., hurled a book at the holdup man who stopped her as she closed her restaurant late one night. He ducked, but kept his gun pointed at her. She threw her pocketbook. He dodged again. She hurled the last thing she was holding, a money box with the days receipts of about $200. He caught it and ran. You couldn't call him a thief!

But a 5-year-old Springfield, Ill., boy had such taking ways. When a detective sergeant stopped on his way to work to talk, the friendly youngster insisted upon showing him his prize collection—an accumulation of parking tickets taken from the windshields of cars.

Adenauer Denied Accusing Russian Troops Of Crimes

LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Moscow radio said that West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has denied accusing Russian troops of war crimes.

The radio said the denial came in a second meeting between the Chancellor and Soviet leaders in Moscow Saturday.

Adenauer's statement earlier in the talks that Russian troops committed "certain acts" led to a series of bitter speeches from the Soviet leaders.

The radio said Adenauer told the Russians at this second meeting that Communist party Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov "have said that I allegedly stated that the Soviet army after having arrived (in Germany) committed crimes."

"I state categorically—I have checked it from notes taken by Secretary of State (Walter) Hallstein—that deliberately and intentionally I did not use this word."

"I said that during the entry of the troops terrible things happened, too. It would be a proper thing not to delve more deeply into these matters."

The broadcast said Adenauer took the chair and spoke twice. It said Premier Nikolai Bulganin, Molotov and Khrushchev all spoke too, but did not immediately give their statements.

The broadcast showed that Adenauer elaborated on West Germany's insistence that the question of "detained persons"—Germans held in the Soviet Union—should form part of the talks.

He pointed out that the Soviet note calling for the Moscow talks said their aim would be "normalization of relations" and to seek "normal good relations." He suggested that to seek normal diplomatic relations—as apparently envisaged by the Russians—is only part of the task of the talks.

Adenauer, according to the radio, took up a point made by Molotov in the earlier session—that the Germans had not been able to throw off Hitlerism by themselves and owed Hitler's downfall to Russia's prosecution of World War II. The broadcast went on:

Adenauer then said: "Gentlemen, do not take any offense at what I am going to say now. It does not concern the Soviet Union alone, but a number of other countries, too."

"Why after 1933 did the great powers make it possible for Hitler to grow in strength? That is the crucial question."

"When I think of the honors accorded to Hitler by the great powers—as for instance at the Berlin Olympics—I am asking you to understand that I really cannot control my feelings."

"I will never forget how Hitler with impunity got away with any violation of international treaties."

"This turned Hitler into a hero in the eyes of certain stupid Germans, while others were reduced to despair."

"They must have seen, as I saw from 1933 onward, how this man was allowed to grow to such dimensions."

"We too—I mean the federal government and the members of our Parliament—are the unfortunate heirs to all that."

"We must try too—since Germany suffered a lot from the war—to rebuild Germany. We must try again to win the confidence of foreign powers, as well as your confidence. I know it is a difficult task but it must be solved."

Adenauer then turned to West German membership in the North Atlantic Treaty organization, which the Russians have cited as an obstacle to quick reunification of Germany. He was quoted:

"I am convinced that, providing the great powers in the future conduct negotiations in a sober manner, then everything that has been arrived in NATO can, indeed must, become an instrument of the European security system."

"I think that this should be the aim of a comprehensive and soberly pursued policy."

Lottie Twigg Is Entertained At Prenuptial Shower Party

A wedding shower is in compliment to Miss Lottie Twigg was given by Mrs. Beverly Turner at the home of Mrs. Walter Hare, 434 Grand Avenue.

Miss Twigg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brice Twigg, Baker Street, is to become the bride of Donald Duckworth, September 17, with Rev. L. G. Bridgers, pastor of the United Brethren Church officiating.

The past, present and future were depicted with dolls arranged beneath umbrellas of green, yellow and lavender. As the honor guest lifted each umbrella Walter Turner sang, with Mrs. Hare at the piano. Under the first umbrella the dolls portrayed the childhood of the bride-elect; the second as a bride and the third the bride as an old lady. The vocal selections were "Daisies Won't Tell," "I Love You Truly," "Through the Years," and "The End of a Perfect Day."

Fall colors were repeated in the decorations and umbrellas and streamers concealing the gifts. A three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom beneath wedding bells adorned the table, which was centered with pink roses. A corsage of pink roses was presented to Miss Twigg.

Guests attending were Miss Gladys Ryan, Miss Shirley Kelo, Miss Sarah Stewart, Miss Gertrude Peck, Mrs. Margaret Murray, Mrs. Mary Welling, Mrs. Jean Douthitt, Mrs. Bessie Koelker, Mrs. Margaret Conlon, Mrs. Lois Barnett, Mrs. Dorothy Barnstricker, Mrs. Marcella Johnson, Mrs. Fred Dressman, Mrs. Elizabeth Hyde, Miss Mabel Thomas, Mrs. Ida Twigg and Miss Grace Heav.

Court Asks Report On Boy's Injuries

The hearing for two local teenage youths who allegedly tied up and injured a nine-year-old boy last week will be continued today in Juvenile Court.

The case developed when Howard F. Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jackson, 522 Necessity Street, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital. His condition was listed as "fair" yesterday by hospital attaches.

The hearing opened in Juvenile Court yesterday morning, but was ordered continued today by Magistrate Morris Baron so a report on the extent of the injuries of the youth could be secured.

Mrs. Jackson said the boy suffered possible internal injuries and that one of the two boys reportedly struck her son in the stomach.

First military use of the balloon was made in 1794 when Jean Marie Coutelle made two four-hour observation ascents. Military value of these ascents seems to have been in damage to the enemy's morale.

It's dead certain you'll look older than you are if you don't follow this advice.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Very young girls are always told to sit up straight and to throw their shoulders back. This is good advice all your life. It may be even more important to follow it when you are older than when you are younger.

What more distressingly condemns her to the look of old age than the drooping shoulders, hanging head and unnaturally rounded back of a mature woman?

And posture like this is inexcusable—at least until you are ninety. It's true that there's a tendency toward a settling down into your bones when you are really old, but you certainly can avoid looking as if you had before then. And even then it isn't necessary. We both know bright-eyed, erect ladies in their seventies. We also observe drabs with unhealthy humps in their backs before fifty. Which seem older?

Always keep yourself pulled up to your full height, both standing and sitting. Pull your chest out of your waist, square your shoulders.

Hazard Checked On Water Street

A hazardous condition on Water Street has been called to the attention of the Corps of Army Engineers, Mayor Roy W. Eves said yesterday.

The condition, he added, occurred after the city had had a number of dwellings on the street razed because of the flood control project.

The basements which were left open became filled with water and weeds, the Mayor said, adding that fear was expressed for the safety of children playing in the area.

Jobless Pay Benefit Claim Hearing Set

A test case will be heard Thursday at the local Unemployment Compensation Board office which will affect approximately 400 Kelly-Springfield Tire Company workers.

James Stein, president of Local 26, United Rubber Workers of America (CIO), said the case of Dewey Smith, a Kelly worker who filed for jobless pay benefits for a one-week period when the plant was shutdown recently, will be heard.

Smith and the other workers who also filed claims for unemployment compensation for the one week did not take the time off as part of their vacation, Stein said. The company has appealed to the UCB not to pay the claims as the employees had vacation time available which the company feels they should have utilized.

The union's contention is that the employees had the right to select their vacation time. The test case will be heard by Miss Irene Zaccaro, chief referee for the Unemployment Compensation Board.

Her decision in the case will determine if the employees receive unemployment compensation for the week.

Why they call it healthy competition

Equal opportunity for competition has made this country great. For, with competition, the public is King. Business competes for public favor—and offers more to win it. This, in turn, keeps business sharp, on its toes, healthy.

But for years, large segments of the transportation industry have been prevented from competing on an equal basis. Outmoded regulation has placed competitive restrictions on some trucks and all railroads.

Now the President's Cabinet Committee—after long research and study—has recommended changes in national transportation policy to help correct this situation.

Adoption of these recommendations not only will benefit you, but will strengthen the nation's transportation system for any and all emergencies.

France Gears For Crucial Fight Against High Prices

By PIERRE LEGROS
PARIS, Sept. 13 (AP)—France is gearing for a crucial fight against her own high prices, which could hamstring her impressive recovery from the ruins of World War II.

Premier Edgar Faure—a hard-headed economist—has singled out the continuing disparity between French and world prices as one of his six-month-old government's biggest headaches.

Reports of a special commission he named to study the price gap are being studied by the Ministry of Finance. On the basis of the reports, the government hopes to establish guide lines for a program of price reduction.

France has recovered in post-war years with what many call remarkable speed. Industrial production has soared, "meeting our best hopes," Faure said recently. Taking monthly jumps as high as 13 per cent, France's index of industrial production has climbed to a peak of 173 (1938 is the base year, designated as 100). This represents a faster rate than in Britain, Belgium and the United States; lower than Germany and Italy.

"All signs point in one direction of continued expansion," Faure said, but he noted:

"The price discrepancy between France and the rest of the world prevents our country from holding the place in international commerce which is its due."

No precise official accounting is available to show the over-all spread between French and world prices, but some qualified estimates have put French prices 20 per cent above the world average.

Why are prices higher in France? A few reasons stand out: Social charges employers must pay on their workers are higher in France than in most European countries. Amounting to 42.5 per cent of the wage bill, they include accident insurance, family allowances, housing in some cases and, in Paris, a special transportation bonus. On top of this is a 5 per cent tax to the Treasury.

French women get the same pay as men for equal work. Where women make up a big proportion of an industry's employees, equal pay becomes an important price factor.

Freight rates on French ships are higher by as much as 12 per cent than on foreign ships.

Productivity in some French factories has lagged because of failure to adopt modern methods.

One stumbling block to the government's plans is the apparently increasing tendency of French workers to turn to strike to enforce new wage demands.

Wages have been climbing along with prices and purchasing power has increased 29 per cent since 1949. But government sources admit his purchasing power is still not as great as the workers of many neighboring countries.

The average French industrial worker who is married and has two children received 36,754 francs ($105) a month, including family allowances.

He must put in 3½ days to buy a pair of shoes; 15 days for a suit; three weeks for a radio; a month for a motorized bicycle so commonly used as transportation in France. France's cheapest car (a two cylinder Citroen) would eat up about 10 months' salary; a battered second hand car, about three months' earnings.

Demos Charge Ike Betrayed U.S. Farmers

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn., Sept. 13 (AP)—Top Democratic leaders from nine Midwestern states have charged the Eisenhower administration with "a brazen and ruthless betrayal of America's farmers."

The party leaders predicted "a green uprising" that will "overwhelmingly repudiate the Eisenhower administration's bungling, inefficient, and unsympathetic administration of farm programs and restore a national Democratic administration in which our farmers can once more have faith."

The party leaders wound up a two-day strategy meeting at Island View, 12 miles east of here on the shores of Rainey Lake, with delegates, Democratic state chairmen and national committeemen from Michigan, Wisconsin, Kansas, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Montana and Minnesota.

In a resolution adopted unanimously, the conference said:

"We indict the Eisenhower administration for a callous indifference to the vast economic loss in the great agricultural areas of our nation, and a flagrant neglect of a basic source of America's strength—production of food and fiber."

"We charge the Eisenhower administration with deliberately bringing about the decline in farm prices and income," the resolution reads. "We charge it with deliberately seeking to turn urban people against farm people."

"We charge it with recklessly treating our blessings of abundance as a curse, penalizing instead of rewarding farmers for responding patriotically to the nation's appeal for increased production in a time of national emergency."

"We indict the Republican party for cynicism and calculated deceit in misleading farmers with campaign promises it had neither the intent nor the desire to fulfill. We vigorously condemn such a betrayal, and pledge our united efforts to bring it to an end."

Spearheading the program, devoted chiefly to the farm problems, were Paul Butler of Indiana, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.). Butler said that, as of today, he believes the farm problem will be the No. 1 issue in the 1956 political campaign.

The conference called for an "effective and realistic" farm program geared to the needs of the Midwest, to include the following points:

1. Restoration of 90 per cent price supports on basic commodities for at least basis family farm production, with some cutoff of sup-

A fifth talk on voting machines will be delivered by Matthew J. Mullane, Democrat member of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors, at the meeting of the Cumberland Civitan Club at 6:30 p. m. Thursday at Central YMCA.

Previously, talks were given at meetings of the Frostburg and Cumberland Rotary clubs, the Cumberland Kiwanis Club and the Cumberland Lions Club. Irvin J. Neat, Republican registrar, is scheduled to speak on the same subject at the meeting of the Cresap Homemakers at 10:30 a. m. Thursday, September 29, at Cresap-town Methodist Church.

port benefits for excessive mass production on corporation-type farm enterprises.

2. Extension of such 90 per cent support to cover such perishables as hogs, eggs, farm chickens, broilers, turkeys, beef cattle, whole milk and butterfat, with authorization for use of production payment as an alternative means of support for such commodities to avoid excessive purchase and storage.

3. Supporting soybeans, cottonseed, flax seed, dry edible beans, and rye, at the same levels as the basic commodities and making it mandatory to support grain sorghums, barley and oats on the basis of their comparative feeding value to corn.

4. Using incentives rather than penalties to achieve necessary production adjustments under a nationwide conservation acreage reserve proposal for taking unneeded acres out of production and building them for future needs without necessitating sacrifice of farm income.

5. Expanding credit authorization to assist low income farmers to achieve economic stability and providing refinancing where necessary to offer all farmers longer-term, lower-cost credit.

Railway Has Biggest Profit In 2 Years

The company estimated the August net at $808,000, compared with $474,000 for the same month.

This brought the estimated net for the first eight months of the year to $4,732,000, equal to $7.02 a common share, excluding dividend arrears on the first preferred stock. This compared with $3,425,000 or $4.57 a share for the corresponding period of 1954.

How much will it cost to send your children to college?

Now, when they're still in the Jungle Jim stage, is the time to start planning your children's college education. But do you realize that the average cost, including tuition, board, room and other fees, is about $1,250 per year per child?

Where is all this money coming from? In thousands of cases, it comes from the savings accounts that forward-looking parents have built up over the years in insured Savings and Loan Associations. Here are the advantages these Associations offer:

1. Your savings bring excellent returns, for these Associations invest most of their funds in sound, steady-paying home mortgages.

2. Your savings are safe. They are protected by sound management and substantial reserves, and insured up to $10,000 by an agency of the U. S. Government.

3. You deal with friendly, experienced people. People who really care about you—and your community.

So if you want to be sure your children enjoy all the advantages of a college education, open a savings account in an insured Savings and Loan Association now!

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (INS)—The French Empire, once the greatest, is blowing up in our faces. Guy Mollet, secretary general of the Socialist Party, largest of the six main groups which make up the French Assembly, has come to this country to report informally to President Eisenhower on the gravity of the North African situation.

give us a fill-in on the struggle.

The Socialist Party, he said, believes the only way of halting the bloody secession of the North African peoples is to give them full representation in the Assembly. That would amount to 150 deputies out of a total of 600, the former resistance leader told assembled news people — including Bert very day completed a book of those treasured reminiscences.

"They draw back with horror at the thought of such representation," Mollet said of the French Conservatives. "But the only remaining choice is between association or secession." It's a tough one, he sighed. Relatives and friends of Frenchmen murdered by North African nationalists "are more concerned with justice and vengeance than with discussions." On the other hand, a lot of natives are outraged by the excesses of the forces of repression. Only negotiation can right this tragedy, he concluded.

But he left us with the impression that it would be hard to get the sides together, even though he himself has had many friendly meetings with nationalist leaders in Tunisia and Morocco. Asked to unscramble the French political picture, strictly Picasso to American eyes, Mollet explained:

"France has a parliamentary system of government different in many respects from yours. Perhaps because of our fear of too strong a chief executive, a fear which has deep basis in our history, the major powers of the state are reposed in a chamber of deputies. There are six main groups, each of about one hundred deputies:

tally against anything! They are against all European-Atlantic solutions and actually against effective social progress as well, because the atmosphere of poverty provides them with suitable ground for picking up new recruits. The Socialists, elected by the left and with their loyalties to the left. They are social, Atlantic and European in outlook. The Radicals, Radical Socialists and splinter groups. They are divided on European-Atlantic leanings. Some, too many, are favorable to a rapprochement with the East.

"The several parties that make up the Catholic Party. . . In the social field they are classified as left, in the European and Atlantic field they take the same position as the Socialists. The independents and farmers, European in outlook but clearly not (Continued on Page 12)

Magsaysay's Land Program Curtails Huks

MANILA, Sept. 13 — President Ramon Magsaysay as defense secretary crushed the Communist Huks. As President he is determined to keep them crushed with a program of land reform.

The Huks, feeding on centuries of peasant unrest, had created chaos until the energetic Magsaysay broke them in 1953.

In the field against the Huks, and again as a presidential candidate 20 months ago, Magsaysay met and talked with farmers. He listened to their complaints and from them evolved a program.

The program: Reduce large landholdings; resettle tenants on public lands; reduce rents, and provide security of tenure; reform the property tax system; provide production credit for small farmers; facilitate the registration of land titles.

Briefly, here is what he has accomplished in 20 months:

1. Got through congress an Agricultural Tenancy Act, drafted with the help of U. S. aid advisers, reducing rents and improving tenure security.
2. Expropriated several landed estates. Under the land reform act of 1955 land may be purchased or expropriated for resale to tenants.

3. More than 3,000 tenants resettled on public land the last fiscal year with houses, farm implements and work water buffalos. Tenants repay under an easy credit plan.

4. Extended credit on reasonable terms to 140,000 small farmers who once were forced to pay interest rates as high as 400 per cent.

5. Will create a court of agrarian relations under a 1955 law designed to improve landlord-tenant relations. It is restricted to tenancy disputes and is believed to be the first kind in the world.

6. Facilitated land registration. Some 50,000 land patents were registered last year compared with 3,000 in 1952.

The problem of property tax reform remains to be attacked, but it obviously is next on the Magsaysay agenda.

As one U. S. land tenure specialist put it:

"No Asian country has a more comprehensive or better balanced program of land reform than the Philippines.

"At the rate they're going, the Filipinos should solve their land tenure problems within five years."

The Ganges is the sacred river of India.

Always Tomorrow For Convertibility

It's surprising how learned conjecture about restoring currency convertibility persists year in and year out in the face of every discouragement. Obviously, as long as politically responsive governments must embrace the expedients that made their exports non-competitive, their talk of currency convertibility must be regarded as just so much hot air.

Georges Villiers, president of the French National Management Council, glumly summed up the prospects for convertibility so far as his country was concerned. "France is actually in an artificial condition," he said, and with respect to commercial convertibility "France could not now broach it without danger."

France occupies an economic hothouse because it is trying to maintain an inflated wage and price structure that would make its products non-competitive in an unprotected market.

A similar inflationary trend is overtaking the British and is responsible for the efforts of the Conservative government to put some restraints on credit.

In the circumstances neither country could seriously consider exposing its currency to free convertibility. But it is seldom that any government ever finds it politically convenient to deflate after having introduced its voters to the narcotic effect of inflation.

Therefore it's probably little more than idle chatter to be talking endlessly of restoring convertibility at some unspecified time when conditions are more auspicious.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Republicans

Len Hall, Republican National Committee Chairman, said at the School for Republican State Chairmen that while he is certain that President Eisenhower will be elected, other Republicans need not believe that they can ride in on his coat-tails, which Republicans know since their unfortunate experience in 1952 and in 1954. In the latter year, the President made a special plea, late it is true, for the country to give him a Republican Congress which it declined to do.

This subject dealt with such practical and pragmatic schools as "The Purchase of Radio and TV Time," "Techniques of Door-to-Door Fund Raising," "Civil Service and Job Placement" and then there was something called "Effective Utilization of Advance Men" which reminds one of the advance men in the old theater of the Klav and Erlanger regime.

But nowhere on this program do I see anything that has to do with the philosophy of the Republican Party. This oversight strikes me as significant because while a party is a mechanism for winning elections, it is also a political organ that presents a social and economic position. Mr. Roosevelt, for instance, asked the American people to support the "New Deal" which was a philosophy clearly identifiable as Fabian Socialism. Roosevelt believed—and I am sure with as much intellectual sincerity as he possessed—that the United States in 1933 was on the verge of a revolution and that he saved the country from that by a Keynesian-Tugwellian program.

The Republicans have developed a slogan, "Peace and Prosperity," which is good to the ear but which nevertheless requires some amplification. Peace is being achieved by a continuation of the doctrines of Harry Truman, George Marshall and Dean Acheson which the Republicans denounced with vehemence and assurance from the death of Roosevelt to the election of Eisenhower. It cannot be forgotten that the Republican Platform of 1952 rejected the doctrines of Truman, Marshall and Acheson as immoral; the time had come for a change and that was the slogan.

However, it has not worked out that some of the early ideas of President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, particularly with regard to Russia, could be carried forward without risking war. The program therefore shifted from infiltration beyond the Iron Curtain to containment and the liquidation of the cold war. One concept is symbolized by NATO; the other by the Geneva Conference.

This much is clear: Whereas the Republican Party, out of power, represented the conservatives of the country, in power, it took over as much as it could of the amalgam of elements which Roosevelt had brought together and which Truman had lost. Therefore, there is no longer a conservative party in the United States. Conservative Americans are expected to vote for Republican candidates but to have no voice in the management of the party or in the development of its ideas.

True, the Republican Party has avoided the type of economic and social radicalism which is represented by the A.D.A. but it has not rejected in action those phases of New Deal policy which its platform rejected in theory.

The problem that Robert A. Taft always faced in the dark years when he kept the party together against all odds was to make certain that it was not an organ of negation; that it was not just an opposition that opposed only for the sake of opposing. He developed a constructive position which is perhaps best represented by the Taft-Hartley Act which despite the opposition to it by the trade unions has strengthened the unions, enriched them, improved the condition of the worker while placing limitations upon the union as there are limitations upon the employer. Whereas the unions are always demanding revision of the Taft-Hartley Act, they have not used their very real power either to revise it or abolish it. They have prospered too well under it.

From Taft's standpoint, his position represented constructive conservatism and he believed that that was the role of the Republican Party.

The four-day School of Republican State Chairmen might have discussed the philosophy of the Republican Party with the hope of some crystallization of ideas so that in 1956 the country might be presented with ideas instead of improvisations. However, these are practical men and they want to talk about practical things, like "Organizing the Rural Vote."

She's Pretty Well Chaperoned

Anti-Red Issue Coming Back Into Party Politics

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—Out of the oblivion, temporary or otherwise, to which the opponents of Senator McCarthy have consigned him, the Wisconsin Senator may yet emerge vindicated, and the Democratic Congressional investigating committees may perform that unintended service for him.

Thus in the last few days the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights—a part of the Senate Judiciary Committee—has taken it upon itself to interfere with the operation of the security system as handled by the Executive Branch of the government. Although the committee itself has not met, its special counsel has issued a demand upon the Civil Service Commission for information which, by every standard of measurement, has always been confidential and probably always will be.

Anyway, when Senator McCarthy asked for similar security information from the Department of the Army in the handling of the Zwicker case, he was told in unequivocal terms that he was encroaching on the powers of the Executive. A wave of denunciatory criticism came from the "left wing" at the time—mostly Democrats.

No action by the full committee directing the sending of the recent letter to the Civil Service Commission has been revealed, yet the newspapers are permitted to infer that the committee itself has taken the step because Lon Hocker, special counsel, made public his letter to the commission which says:

"We request that you prepare a report for use of the subcommittee in connection with its hearings next month on the handling of all cases in which unfitness for government employment has been determined by the Civil Service Commission in whole or in part through relationship by blood or marriage with some other person."

Here is an evident attempt to publicize all security cases. If the Civil Service Commission acceded to the request, it would be in the position of placing a stigma publicly on all such individuals, whether or not the employee or applicant was cleared. Then, when the cases came out into the open, the Commission would be blamed for damaging the reputation of government employees.

Senator Hennings of Missouri, Democrat, who is chairman of the subcommittee, has announced that it will go into the controversial question of "guilt by kinship" at future hearings.

He says that branding government workers as security risks either because of association with their parents or with certain groups appears to violate Constitutional rights of peaceable assembly.

Here, therefore, is an instance of where a committee chairman makes a blanket charge against the Executive Branch of the government without examining all the facts in the case and without taking into account the historic right of the Executive Branch—affirmed by the Supreme Court—to hire or fire employees at will unless Congress by law states specific grounds for removal.

The Senate subcommittee's statements by individual members and by its counsel does not tell the public that the kinship of an em-

Baering Down on The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

We're not expecting the Eastern and Western worlds to scrap anything but treaties. Don't forget the last line they laid it on was the 38th Parallel.

Let's survey the armed forces. In 1953 Russia had 4,500,000 soldiers. We had 3,500,000 banging mess kits.

Today we reduced the roll call to 2,900,000. Russia has 4,500,000. That's as one-sided as a busted rocker.

The Geneva plan will make everything even with America at 1,500,000 and Russia tapering off at 4,500,000. Their statistics are jammed.

Everything in Dag Hammarskjöld's prescription depends on the system of mutual inspection like monkeys on a perch.

But even if we find the needle in the haystack we still have lost the thread. The inspection system broke down in Korea like room service in a haunted house.

Stockpiles can be disguised more ways than hamburger steak. Figures do not lie but adding machines can be gimmicked.

Hammarskjöld knows his plan is as weak as a second cup of tea.

Behavior Change May Be Clue To Mental Illness

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

From time to time we are asked how mental illness can be recognized. In its early stages, the condition is not easy to detect. Eventually, however, the signs become meaningful as these disturbed men and women lose contact with reality and move into a world of their own.

But before they get there, the family is likely to note behavior changes. The quiet man becomes more talkative, restless, quarrelsome, or hilarious. The voluble woman may become morose or apathetic. In other words, the victim's actions are not in keeping with his usual personality.

Others do not know where they are or what day, week, or month it is. Many of us forget people's names or faces or have lapses about making phone calls or writing letters but we generally know where we are and whether it is morning, noon, or night. But the mentally ill lose contact because they are more concerned with their dream world than with the calendar on the wall or routine obligations.

As they move farther and farther away from reality, they become suspicious of those about them. One disturbed person may be convinced his neighbors hate him so much they are plotting to kill him. If a truck pulls into their driveway to install a TV set, the mentally disturbed person knows the antenna on the roof is placed there to emit death rays.

Others think they are God, Napoleon, or a famous Shakespearean star, and act the part, with gestures. Still others become inventors. One man devised a streamlined rocket that could run on land, sea, or in the air. He suspected all men with a swarthy complexion of being foreign agents, out to steal his plans.

When he was asked where he kept his blueprints, he said he had placed them in a vault of the Tenth National Bank at midnight. When reminded that banks are not open at night he said the president had made a special trip down for the purpose.

Still other sufferers go around the neighborhood or office telling a convincing story about the tricks and cruel deeds done by the members of their family. If a reputable business man goes off mentally, he may get himself and friends into financial difficulties before his condition is recognized.

Talking to yourself does not mean insanity but many disturbed persons carry on lengthy and vigorous conversations with imaginary politicians, disciples, or generals. Hallucinations may extend to other senses: they feel bugs crawling on the skin, see flying saucers, taste poison in their food, or smell strange odors. These hallucinations are real to the patient because they actually are occurring in his imaginary world. There is no use trying to convince him otherwise. Such people need help and the sooner it is obtained the better for all concerned.

Huge Western Land Grab Would Enrich Congressman's Friends

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation his column is being written by members of his staff.)

WASHINGTON—A gigantic land grab, that would make the Oklahoma Land Rush look like a penny ante real-estate deal, is in the works. Catch is that a few insiders may get first grab at the fabulous prize—10,000,000 acres of oil-rich farmland.

Located mostly in Montana, Wyoming and the Dakotas, the land was bought by Uncle Sam as a relief measure during the dust-bowl days. The idea now is to turn all the arable acreage back to private ownership, which seems like a worthy enough plan.

However, Texas Congressman W. R. Poage has rigged the deal to enrich a few fellow Texans. He drafted a bill that not only would give his friends first priority but would turn over oil rights to them. This is significant, since thousands of dust-bowl acres lie on the edge of the oil-oozing Williston Basin.

The way Poage worded his bill, preference in purchasing the land would go not to the farmers who originally owned it but to those whose land was expropriated by the government during World War II. This is verbal camouflage to benefit Poage's Texas friends, who happened to sell ranchland to the Army after Pearl Harbor.

The Poage bill would also force the sale of oil rights along with the land, thus robbing the taxpayers of juicy royalties. Uncle Sam also couldn't keep any arable land, though in some cases retention might be desirable to prevent dust-bowl conditions from returning.

This tremendous Poage give-away is already on its way toward becoming law. The Texas Congressman slipped it through the House Agriculture Committee, unnoticed and uncontested, during the closing hectic minutes of the recent session of Congress. Conscientious Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson is now wise to Poage, however, and will fight the bill next session.

Washington Whispers

The political romance between ex-President Harry Truman and would-be President Adlai Stevenson has definitely cooled off. This was the word that seeped out of a secret huddle in Indiana between Truman, Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler and ex-Chairman Frank McKinney.

The consensus was that Adlai lacked the mass appeal to win the White House. . . . Pan American Airways doesn't miss a trick in the Washington game of winning friends and influencing policy. Latest: Pan Am has just given a plush job to the President's favorite nephew, Milt Eisenhower Jr. . . . The Navy will build an unneeded $1,700,000 supply depot at Byron, Ga. The main purpose: to appease Congress' two armed services chairmen, Sen. Dick Russell and Rep. Carl Vinson, both of Georgia. . . . The National Press Club has stumbled into the middle of the Egyptian-Israeli ruckus. The Egyptian Ambassador wanted to present an imprint of a Cairo newspaper to decorate the Press Club wall. New York News Ace Frank Holeman, a Press Club wheel, innocently accepted. Now it turns out there are no foreign papers on the club's newsy walls. To make an exception of Egypt might offend other countries, particularly Israel.

Guaranteed Annual Profit

American Telephone and Telegraph, the giant telephone octopus, is about to get a guaranteed annual profit that will cost the taxpayers a staggering $240,000,000 a year.

This generous arrangement has been offered by the Air Force, which wants to modernize its air-defense communications so radar outposts can flash reports of unidentified planes automatically to the control center. But instead of stretching its own communications lines, the Air Force will lease lines from A. T. & T.

The deal calls for the Air Force to sign a 10-year lease, which will enable A. T. & T. to install the new equipment at a guaranteed profit. This air-defense network, or SAGE system, as it is called, will run up a telephone bill "as high as $240,000,000 annually," according to a confidential Air Force estimate. A. T. & T. is milking the most out of the deal by basing the charges on local telephone rates, which are higher than federally regulated interstate rates.

NOTE—A. T. & T. is also taking over the telephone system at military posts and national parks, now that these systems are operating at a profit. The company is dickering, too, to buy the Civil Aeronautics Administration's communications network and sell the service back to the government.

Capital Chit-chat

This column's report that irate Senators are out to impeach Federal Power Chairman Jerome Kuykendall may have shown him the handwriting on the wall. He now talks longingly of going back to his private law practice (before the Senate sends him back) . . .

Meanwhile, Tennessee's Sen. Estes Kefauver and Congressman Joe Evins are drawing up the impeachment charges. Oregon's Sen. Wayne Morse has a couple charges of his own to add to the bill of particulars. . . . Prize for the most affluent lobby in town goes to the electric power industry, which spent $47,510 in three months to influence policy. Its greatest success: persuading the Federal Power Commission to turn the valuable Hell's Canyon Dam site over to Idaho Power. . . .

The private power lobby's best friend in the Senate is Wisconsin's blown-out hurricane, Joe McCarthy, who has introduced a flock of bills that would help no one but the private utilities. . . . The General Gas Committee, though formed only six months ago, is Washington's second biggest spender. This oil-company lobby spent $40,586 in three months persuading the House to pass a law that will mean higher monthly gas bills for housewives. . . . Commentator Frank Edwards is writing the funny side of his life, a laugh-a-page book to be called "My Last Ten Million Sponsors." . . . The old political master, Jim Farley, who's famous for remembering names and faces, couldn't place Secretary of Labor Jim Mitchell the other evening. Mistaking the GOP Cabinet member for a Democratic holdover in the Labor Department, Farley chatted amiably about Former Secretary Frances Perkins. "She's a fine little old lady," said Farley in a Democrat-to-Democrat tone, adding: "and she's a good organization Democrat."

The Compleat Golfer

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (INS)—The end of summer has its compensations for a bad golfer. He goes back to the city liberated from one of the most wicked, frustrating and treacherous experiences of his life. The disease from which he suffers can attack him thereafter only in his nightmares until winter melts deceptively into spring, at which time he'll join the march of lemmings and blindly pursue further his distressing inability to control a little ball he could normally eat with his TV popcorn.

Unless he's unlucky enough to live in a temperate place like Florida, California, Arizona, Texas or somewhere, the summer golfer now is through with the so-called sport for months to come. He can forthwith devote perhaps one-fifth of the energy he wasted on this losing cause to the problem of feeding and watering his spawn. He has reached a time of year when he can come to a conclusion and say to himself, "This is right, and that is wrong, and I'll defend this stand to the death."

He could never say anything that positive in golf. He took lessons from nine pros during the summer and read all the latest books and articles on the game.

His swing belonged to everybody except himself. He played all summer with the muscles of Ben Hogan, Sam Snead and Cary Middlecoff. Unfortunately, none of the aforementioned gents would let him have theirs, so he had to fake it with his own. And his muscles were intended only for sitting down.

Non-golfers, a lucky breed, have no comprehension of what goes into swatting a golf ball. They see a dub shank a ball, or hook, slice, or top it, or miss it completely and they snarl "boob" and pass on.

They cannot know that in the act of rearing back and hitting—which takes about a second—as many as 50 manifests, edicts and warnings may flit through a dub's brain. This blizzard across his mental screen is further complicated by the fact that few of the pronouncements agree.

"Hit the ball off your left heel, don't hit the ball off your left heel. Get that left hand over. Move that left hand back. Stay behind the ball. Get those hands out ahead of the ball. This is a left-handed game. Smack the hell out of the ball with your right hand. Keep that weight on your right leg. Move that weight forward. Stay down. Don't stay down like that. Keep that left arm straight. Use keep that left arm so straight. Use a whippy shaft. Use a stiff shaft. Double Dimple Dreadnaughts are the only ball for you. Triple Triangle Tourneys are the only ball for you!"

The suffer becomes so inured to unnerving experiences on a golf course that they become a part of his subconscious. He dreams he is within one shot of winning the British Open only to find that his ball is lying at the bottom of a 300 foot deep snake pit and he can't improve his lie. Worse, his dreams may swing into high geared technical and he dreams he can do nothing wrong. His woods and irons are riper than eight dollar celery and he's sinking 50 foot putts easier than breaking match sticks. Dreams like this often tempt the summer duffer to borrow money and take off in the dead of winter for more clement climes where golf is a year round business. Their let down is most grievous. Suicide is scant relief.

Took a close relative of mine named Mike out to play his first round the other day. I lavished upon him the total learning of a lifetime of bad golf. This bum had never taken a lesson, never read a book or article on golf. Through the first 17 holes I showed him exactly how to hold the club, how to pivot, follow through and so forth. He must have averaged 20 shots a hole, not counting the whiffs. Then as we stood on the 18th tee the lad said, politely, "Pop, you mind if I hit one naturally?"

"Go right ahead," I said, stiffly, knowing this would be his worst.

The poor soul held the club incorrectly, stood wrong, looked up, and hit one 200 yards down the middle. He used the wrong club on his second but somehow hit it another 200 yards. The ball rolled off the green into a deep trap. He hit a perfectly ridiculous shot out of the sand, but it came to rest on the green. He was lining up his putt for the first par of his life when he, too, realized that he needed further instruction. I gave him the putting stance, stroke and philosophy of Harry Vardon, Ted Ray, Francis Ouimet, Hagen, Hogan, Sarazen, all the Smiths, and John Montague.

It was the first time I ever saw anybody seven-putt a green.

Army Engineers Inspect Keyser Flood Damage

Rep. Staggers Confers With Mayor Freeland

KEYSER — A group of United States Army engineers, accompanied by Rep. Harley Staggers, congressman from the Second West Virginia District, visited here yesterday and made an inspection tour of New Creek and the Potomac River, to determine if a flood control project is possible.

The visiting officials also conferred with Mayor John C. Freeland, and other citizens on the problem.

While no positive commitment was made, the officers indicated that this area should have some relief from future flood damage, and they believe a complete survey should be undertaken. They indicated that a survey team is presently working in this general area.

Serious consideration was given to the island, formed over a long period of time in the river, which has caused the stream to change its course. The engineers also examined some piers left in the river where there was once a bridge. The engineers suggested that these obstructions be removed and indicated that considerable dredging at the island would be desirable.

They were shown photographs taken during the recent flood caused by Hurricane Diane. These photos showed the height of New Creek and the Potomac as the streams crested. The engineers agreed that some control must be exercised over this rapid runoff.

They indicated before leaving, that some plan of permanent relief should be worked out, giving the Keyser area protection against flood waters from both New Creek and the Potomac River.

The engineers assured Congressman Staggers and local officials that they will give the problem immediate attention and study, with a definite conclusion reached as soon as practical.

While here, the engineers also made an inspection at Luke, McCoole, Westernport and Piedmont.

Men's County Shuffle Loop Has 20 Teams

Two Division Circuit Will Open Thursday

The Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League will function as a 20-team two-division circuit during the 1955-56 season which gets under way on Thursday night.

The ninth season of the county loop finds the teams split into National and American divisions. Last year 16 teams held franchises.

Home and away matches will be played among the teams in each division and the American and National teams will clash in one game during the season, all results to count in the standings.

In the Shaughnessy playoffs the four top teams in each division will engage in a home and away series. The winners in each division will clash in a home and away series for the league trophy. The joint system will prevail in the playoffs.

Four new teams in the circuit are Southern Bar, Green's Chevrolet, Cumberland Moose and Fort Ashby V.F.W.

Here's the schedule for Thursday night:

NATIONAL—Mt. Savage VFW at Cumberland Moose, Hi Dee Club at Hann's Tavern, Frostburg K. of C. at Purple Heart Club, Fisher & Robinette at Green's Chevrolet, Golden Nugget at Woodmen of the World.

AMERICAN—Southern Bar at Cumberland Redmen, Cas Taylor's at Clingerman's Cafe, Cumberland K. of C. at Fort Ashby VFW, Goodfellowship Club at Frostburg Eagles, Frostburg American Legion at Stadium Inn.

A league meeting will be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the Frostburg Legion Home. Stationery for the season will be distributed.

British Enter Darius In Race At Laurel

LAUREL, Md., Sept. 13 (P)—Darius, rated the best British thoroughbred in the 4-years-old and-up division, today became the first English entry in Laurel's Washington, D. C., International turf race.

A spokesman for Laurel President John D. Schapiro said Sir Percy Loraine had announced the acceptance of an invitation to run his colt in the Nov. 11 race.

Geoffrey Freer, official handicapper for the Jockey Club of England, selected Darius at the top of a list of six horses he considered top candidates for the International. Acropolis and Meld, picked as the top 3-year-olds, became victims of a coughing epidemic. Darius led the list of four holder horses.

Mrs. Bowie Is Victor

Broadway Quotes Tribe As Favored To Take Pennant

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (P)—Prices along Broadway today quoted the Cleveland Indians as a slight favorite over the New York Yankees to win the American League pennant, with the Brooklyn Dodgers the choice in the World Series.

The Chicago White Sox are 3-1 in the pennant race, and the Boston Red Sox are out of it, says the bookmakers.

In the series, oddsmakers have the Dodgers a slight choice over Cleveland, but it's even slighter over the Yankees should they win the pennant. You would have to put up $13 on the Dodgers to win $10 in event the opposition is Cleveland. Backers of Cleveland to beat the Dodgers would risk $10 to win $11.

In event the Yankees win the flag, Dodger betters would put up $6 to win $5 and Yankee backers can get even money to cop the series.

LaVale Rec Group To Meet Tonight

The LaVale Youth Recreation Association will hold a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the LaVale Fire Hall to complete business for the season and to formulate plans for a banquet at which LaVale's Maroons and Orioles of the Pen-Mar Little League and the LaVale team of the Bi-State Pony League will be honored.

All persons interested are invited to attend this meeting.

County League Meets

A meeting of the Allegany County Softball League is scheduled for Thursday at 8 p. m. at the Corriganville Fire Hall. Final business for the year will be transacted.

Tut Bartzen Beats Trabert For Title

CINCINNATI, Sept. 13—(INS)—Eighth-ranked Bernart (Tut) Bartzen of San Angelo, Tex., scored one of the 1955's biggest upsets today when he defeated National Champion Tony Trabert in his home town of Cincinnati for the Tri-State Western tennis title.

Playing before an overflow crowd at the Cincinnati clay courts, Bartzen lost the first set, 9 to 7, but came back to win the next two, 11-9 and 6-4.

The match had been delayed more than two months. Scheduled last July 10, rain forced postponement until today.

The American flag was first flown on a ship by John Paul Jones at Portsmouth, Va., on July 2, 1777. The name of the ship was the Ranger.

The motor freight industry is Ohio's third largest industry.

Turnesa, Ward Capture Extra Hole Contests

Beat Sweeney, Palmer In Amateur Tourney

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 13 (P)—Willie Turnesa's magic wedge and Harvie Ward's old, trash-can putter brought them pressure-packed extra hole victories today in the second round of the National Amateur Golf Tournament.

Turnesa, little Elmsford, N. Y., veteran who won this title in 1938 and 1948, made a magnificent explosion shot on the 19th hole to eliminate Robert Sweeney, last year's runnerup and 1937 British Amateur champion.

Ward, young San Francisco automobile salesman who is a redhot favorite to take the championship, sank a 25-foot putt on the first extra hole to win a dramatic match from Ray Palmer, 42-year-old week-end golfer from Wyandotte, Mich.

Turnesa and Ward advanced to the third round with a phalanx of favorites including another past champion, Stanley (Ted) Bishop of Weston, Mass., and three other members of the proud Walker Cup squad besides Ward—captain Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., Lt. Joe Conrad of San Antonio, Tex., and Jim Jackson of St. Louis.

The only major reversal of form was the defeat of Bruce Cudd, Walker Cup member from Portland, Ore., by Edwin Collett Vare of Narragansett, R. I., captain-elect of Yale's golf team and son of one of America's greatest women golfers.

Young Vare's margin was 2 and 1. His mother, Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, won the Women's National Amateur title six times.

Demarco, Vejar Meet At Boston

BOSTON, Sept. 13 (P)—Tony Demarco, anxious to regain the welterweight title he held for 70 days, pits his flatfooted slugging against Chico Vejar's boxing skill tomorrow night in a nationally televised 10 round fight at Boston Garden.

The winner is expected to meet champion Carmen Basilio within two months for the welter crown he blasted off Demarco's head June 10.

Tony is a 2-1 favorite. For TV watchers (ABC, 9 p. m., EST) as well as the 11,000 fans expected to appear at the garden, the fight has possibilities of being one of the best in a long time if both contestants are in top form.

Valdez Stops Don Cockell

Cuban Registers TKO In Third At London

LONDON, Sept. 13 (P)—Nino Valdes of Cuba, scored a technical knockout tonight over Don Cockell of Britain when the referee stopped the fight after the third round.

A bad cut on Cockell's forehead spurted blood midway through the third round. Cockell's corner men called referee Charley Davidson over and he immediately stopped the fight.

In the third round Valdes cut loose with lefts and rights to the body. He got the Briton into a corner, rocked him with a short left and then put across a right to the face which sent Cockell sprawling to the canvas.

Cockell took an eight count. Cockell came back after the knockdown with a big left to Valdes' face but the Cuban shook it off and replied with a barrage of two handed hitting to the head.

Cockell weighed 216 pounds and Valdes 207. A crowd of 23,000 saw the fight after sitting through two heavy rain spells during a cold, bleak night in White City stadium.

Match Is Postponed

The third match of the golf series between men's teams of the Cumberland Country Club and Somerset Country Club, set for today, has been postponed.

Enos Slaughter Will Divorce 4th Wife

BELLEVILLE, Ill., Sept. 13 (P)—Enos Slaughter, an outfielder with the Kansas City Athletics, has filed notice of intent to divorce his fourth wife.

The notice was filed in behalf of the 39-year-old baseball player in St. Clair County Circuit Court yesterday under an Illinois law requiring a 60-day "cooling-off" period before filing of a divorce suit.

Slaughter and his fourth wife, the former Mrs. Ruth Rohleder of Hollywood, Calif., were married Dec. 31, 1951, a month after his third wife divorced him.

Henry Schwartz, Slaughter's lawyer, refused to say what grounds Slaughter would specify in asking for a divorce.

Dick Zembower Wins Over Judge Harris

Dick Zembower defeated Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday, 2 and 1, in a first round match in the men's fall golf tournament at the Cumberland Country Club.

In a fourth flight contest, Capt. R. A. Clark won over William Yoder, 1 up on the 19th hole. All first round matches must be completed by Sunday evening.

If you worry about skidding... GET THE GREAT GULF TIRE!

Bank on the Gulf Tire to fight skids—just look at the sawteeth in that tread! Those sharp-edged "zigs" and "zags" (thousands of them!) flex-wrap as they roll. By breaking up water film on wet pavements, they help stop skids before they start. Less chance of blowouts, too, for this warranted Gulf Tire has shock-absorbing double breaker strip right under the tread!

LOOKS BETTER • RUNS COOLER • WEARS LONGER

We'll service these tires and batteries during their entire life. Drop in and see them soon!

Sewage Plant Work Ahead Of Schedule

Mayor Says Project Is 26 Per Cent Done

Work on the Cumberland sewage treatment plant—this city's $2,000,000 investment in better health for the area—moved ahead last month in spite of heavy rains.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the big project was 26 per cent completed—and still about a month ahead of schedule—on August 31.

One of the first phases of the work which began early this spring was the erection of a levee around the 10-acre site bordering the Potomac River.

Mayor Eves said heavy rains during the week of August 15 resulted in the river rising two feet above the plant site but that the earth banks of the levee prevented damage to the structures under construction.

The Moyer Brothers Company, which is building the plant under a $1,531,000 contract, also moved some 1,300 cubic yards of earth in August to excavate and lay 550 feet of 30-inch reinforced concrete pipe for an interceptor sewer.

Some 3,500 cubic yards of fill was used to construct an embankment inside the levee.

Levee Slope Faced

The outside face of the levee was graded and prepared for stone slope paving, and some 130 yards of the slope completed after stone of suitable size and shape was secured. The stone surfacing protects the earth banks from erosion.

Other crews drove some 1,800 square feet of steel piling to allow excavation of the main sewage pumping station.

Sixteen yards of concrete were poured early in the month to form the second wall section of the primary gate chamber and 68 yards on August 31 to form footings for the plant's grit and comminutor chamber.

The company also installed the collecting mechanism for primary clarifier No. 2.

Forms were started for the walls of the chlorine contact tank, where the discharge from the plant will be sterilized, but mud and water from August rains made it necessary to make a new start on the forms.

Piers Are Replaced

Workers poured nine yards of concrete for the floor slab of the sludge pumping station on August 2. Another 122 yard pour was made August 23 for the first wall section of the primary digestion tank and another 20 yards of mix poured during the first week of the month for the foundation slab of the control chamber between the two digestion tanks.

Four piers were removed and replaced as a result of defective concrete attributed to low cement content.

The contractor also installed about half of the 36 inch pipe needed for the grit and comminutor chamber to the primary gate chamber.

The contractor received permission to install, at no additional cost to the city, hollow metal doors and aluminum screen doors in space of wooden doors and screens called for in specifications.

Inspect Model Of Expressway Structure

C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, and Mayor Roy W. Eves inspect a model of the overhead bridge section of the Cumberland expressway project. The model, placed in the rotunda of City Hall yesterday, is of the viaduct from Maryland Avenue to past the Western Maryland Railway tracks. The view of the viaduct is what one would see from the Naval Armory. Officials said the model will be on display in City Hall, so all citizens can see its relations to streets and railroad tracks.

Expressway Model Placed On Display At City Hall

City officials yesterday placed on display in City Hall a model of the overhead bridge section of the Crosstown Expressway project.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the model shows only the section of the viaduct from its Maryland Avenue approach to where it crosses over the Western Maryland Railway tracks on Baltimore Street.

Because of limitations of size, he said, the model had to be limited to the portion on which there have been the most questions.

Even though the model is built to the scale of one-eighth-inch to the foot, it stretches across most of the rotunda of City Hall.

The model was prepared by Ronald L. Markwood, Bedford, Pa., from tentative plans furnished by the Maryland State Roads Commission.

Shows Access Ramps
A signed copy of the agreement between the SRC and the city for the construction of the $10,000,000 project was received by city officials last week.

City officials said the model will be on display for some time in City Hall so citizens may inspect it and see the relation of the viaduct to streets in the downtown area.

It shows graphically the provisions which have been made for ramps which will allow vehicles to enter and leave the six-lane expressway in the business area.

Over three dozen model vehicles have been placed on the structure to show the flow of traffic, and several vehicles have been placed under the bridge to show how that area can be used for parking.

Progress Is Stated
The display shows how the six-lane divided east-west route approaches Maryland Avenue at street level and shows at that point a new street which is to be built to the north from Maryland Avenue to Park Street, paralleling Emily Street.

It shows how the modern viaduct crosses the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks and then, beginning at South George Street, the down ramp leading to Mechanic Street, plus the access ramp leading from Mechanic Street to the overhead bridge at George Street.

Other ramps show how traffic will enter and leave the modern structure at other downtown points. Mayor Eves said construction of the viaduct will be several years off, since original plans called for the Industrial Boulevard segment of the expressway to be built first.

He said the city believes that since the contract for the expressway has been signed, the State Roads Commission will resume engineering work and acquisition of property needed for the boulevard.

The SRC has already acquired some needed property for the proposed route to connect the downtown section to Route 51.

The local chapter pointed out that even more money will be needed this year, as Allegany County has a real polio emergency for the first time in 19 years.

Several patients have been hospitalized here with polio, and at least two cases have been described as serious.

Half of all the money collected in January's drive will be kept here for local needs, and the other half will go to the National Foundation for use in research and treatment.

"There's no precise goal or quota," said Robb. "We need all we can raise." Last year the campaign raised about $18,000 in the county, but even more is needed this year.

Victim Of Polio Reported "Fair"
Carolette DeBouck, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. DeBouck, 117 Frederick Street, is reported in "good" condition at Memorial Hospital where she is a polio patient.

Her case was diagnosed yesterday as non-paralytic spinal polio. Another patient, John Bailey Jr., six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bailey Sr., Paw Paw, W. Va., is reported in "good" condition. He also is suffering from non-paralytic spinal polio.

Five other polio patients are in the same hospital.

Partial Control Of Well Drilling Seen Favored
OAKLAND, Md., Sept. 13 (AP)—Garrett County landowners appeared today to be in favor of some State legislation to control gas well drilling in the county but also said they wanted to retain the controlling power.

Three witnesses appeared before a six-member subcommittee of the Legislative Council which opened a two-day hearing as a result of a resolution approved by the 1955 General Assembly.

The committee, headed by Sen. DiDomenico (D-Balto, 2nd), is trying to determine the basis for a bill which would be acceptable to both houses of the Legislature.

A proposed control law in 1951 passed the House of Delegates but failed in the Senate. Another in 1953 was enacted with an amendment later declared unconstitutional. Last year, there was a bill to repeal the 1953 act, and Senate Bill 470, presented last winter to the 1955 Legislature, was modeled on the 1953 measure. It passed the Senate but did not get by the House.

No Law Prevails
At present, there is no law on the State's books controlling the drilling of gas wells in Maryland. An old law regulates water well drilling.

Marvin Callis, former president of the Garrett County Farm Bureau told the committee he favors voluntary pooling of a "reasonable number" of acres for gas well drilling without "monopolistic coercion."

He said the number of acres should be determined by a local group or an impartial committee.

He objected to giving powers to a State board, saying the right to determine where wells may be drilled should be retained in the county.

Callis also said the Department of Geology, Mines and Water resources should be "interested enough" to educate the public about leasing land and drilling. He said some Garrett County landowners felt they had been taken by drillers.

Bill Is Sought
Emerson Bishoff, present farm bureau president, asked the committee to draw up a bill favorable to operators as well as landowners.

Jesse Dally of Morgantown, W. Va., geologist at West Virginia University, said he felt there should be some restriction on the spacing of wells. But he said he felt the restriction should be on the area where drilling would be allowed—say a certain 50 acres—rather than a certain number of feet from another well.

DiDomenico said it appeared there was agreement that spacing should be restricted and the committee would have to resolve how the power to space should be set and delegated.

About 75 persons attended the hearing, which will continue tomorrow in the county courthouse here.

Other members of the subcommittee are Del. Wilkinson (D-Prince Georges), Del. Driscoll (R-Allegany), Sen. Friend (R-Garrett) and Del. Glatfely (R-Garrett).

Filter Plant Job Nears Completion
Water Commissioner William J. Edwards said yesterday that only a few minor tasks, chiefly adjustments, remain to be done in the current contract for improvements at the Lake Gordon filtration plant. The $204,000 contract let to the Hazelwood Construction Company provided for the rehabilitation and housing of 12 filter units constructed in 1911.

It has provided the city with a modern plant capable of filtering 22,500,000 gallons of water daily. Commissioner Edwards said there are no current plans for completing other phases of the modernization program.
